

Term 1 Week 3 2013

TRANSITION

On Thursdays we have started to explore a range of media for self expression and creativity. The introduction is to have a sensory experience of how the colours are made. We started with mixing blue and yellow. Luckily none of the children expressed they knew what was going to happen. As they began to see green appearing they were very excited and shouted out: "GREEN!"

As a part of the Grace & Courtesy curriculum, it is a full process from entering the space of the activity to leaving the space, it is a whole process where all activities are equally important. The children cleaned their hands afterward and also the tables. Then they thought the chairs needed cleaning as well. They took all the work off the shelves and began to clean them. They spent a long time doing this while coordinating and organising the job. They had little chats amongst each other talking about how they clean at home, etc. They finished and were ready for individual work.

On Friday the group had visitors from Preschool where they used play dough to experience and manipulate a media.
